- Northside Middle School: Unrelated to the incident earlier this week, a student has tested positive despite not exhibiting any symptoms. This student has not been in school all week and has not had close contact with any other students, so no other NSMS students need to quarantine. The student does, however, have a sibling at another MCS school who has tested negative for COVID-19. Still, the sibling will be on quarantine as a result of being a close contact of someone who tested positive.
